The Georgetown McDonough Undergraduate Office of Professional Development (OPD) supports 1,300 Georgetown McDonough undergraduate students during the internship and job-seeking process.

The office provides one-on-one coaching, workshops, and career treks to empower students to develop a career path that is right for them. We also connect students to additional employment opportunities, particularly in industries such as advertising, marketing, real estate, and technology, in addition to financial services and consulting.

Christian Keenum, B ’16

“My internship was valuable, and I saw how the concepts I learned in my classes are used in real life. Furthermore, it sparked my curiosity and encouraged me to take even more business school classes as electives. I truly believe that my internship experience, combined with my Georgetown education, will prepare me well for a career in finance.”
